DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's arguments filed October 26, 2005, and April 20, 2006, have been carefully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the claim rejection has been withdrawn. However, the arguments are moot in view of a new ground of rejection. A non-final office action follows as below.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 4,5,7, and 8 are objected to because of the following informalities: in claim 4, line 2, the word "an" before "impeller" should be changed to -- said fan --, in claim 5, line 3, the word "face" should be changed to -- surface --, claim 7, line 12, the word -- for -- should be inserted before "gently supporting", and claim 8, line 8, the word "an" before "intake orifice" should be changed to -- said --. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 2-5,7, and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

There is no antecedent basis for "the bottom pick-up face" (claim 7, lines 5-6), "the pickup surface" (claim 2), "the gap" (claim 4), "the compartment for the impeller" (claim 5), or the "bottom pick-up face" (claim 8, lines 8-9).

Moreover, the recited phrase "whereby a low vacuum is distributed over a wide area to provide a good uniform gentle more even lifting force" (claims 7 and 8, last two lines) is vague and indefinite because it is unclear where "the low vacuum is distributed over a wide area".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 2,3,7, and 8, as best understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kuma (4,735,449).

Kuma (4,735,449) discloses a vacuum pickup device for handling a plate (8) comprising: a generally flat paddle member (11d of Fig. 8 or 11f of Fig. 13) having a pickup face with a peripheral edge and a planar top surface, an intake orifice (1f) in the bottom pick-up surface of the paddle; a fan impeller (18) for drawing air through said intake orifice which creates a first vacuum and a primary lifting force of a predetermined magnitude on the pickup surface, and a delivery pipe (3d) and a stopper (12d), which can be considered as mean for directing the air over the top surface thereby creating an additional secondary vacuum at the periphery of the paddle to provide an additional secondary lifting force gently supporting the plate (8) on the pickup face whereby a low vacuum is distributed over a wide area to provide a good uniform gentle more even lifting force. Note that figures 9-14 also show mean for directing the air over the top surface thereby creating an additional secondary vacuum at the periphery of the paddle to provide an additional secondary lifting force gently supporting the plate.

Re claim 2, figures 10,12,14,16, and 18 show a pattern of grooves on the pickup surface.

Re claim 3, figure 17 shows a U-shaped channel (1a,1b) on the pickup face.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claims 4 and 5, as best understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kuma (4,735,449) in view of Dicke (4,381,628).

Kuma (4,735,449), as presented above, does not show a motor to activate or deactivate the fan. However, Dicke (4,381,628) teaches a motor (28) to activate or deactivate the fan (48). Accordingly, it would have been obvious to those skilled in the art to provide a motor on the housing of Kuma (4,735,449) as taught by Dicke (4,381,628) to activate or deactivate the fan (18).

Re claim 5, figures 5,6,8,14,15, and 17 of Kuma (4,735,449), as best understood, show a compartment for the fan impeller.

Response to Arguments

9. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 2-5,7, and 8 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Roth (3,523,707) discloses a vacuum pickup device.
